INTERVIEW SUMMARY

Assistant Commissioner for Patents
Washington, DC 20231

Sir:

On Thursday, April 17, 2008, Examiner Cam Y. T. Truong and myself, Applicant's Agent Robert Frantz, held a telephone interview which we had initiated. We sought the interview to explain our amendment, specifically the new claims which were being presented, and which we believed approached the invention from a different perspective.

Examiner Truong requested for us to point out a few places in the specification where support for several claim aspects were found. We discovered that the paragraph numbers of our disclosure as originally filed, and as mentioned in the amendment, were different from the paragraph numbers printed in the patent application as published. We pointed out, for example, were the claim phrase "without reloading a web page" is disclosed as "avoiding reloading a web page" in the disclosure. We also explained Object-Action Navigation model as opposed to the normal Action-Object Navigation model of user interface design, and how our model was beneficial to certain user applications such as a stock trader's turret system.

Examiner Truong stated that an updated search would be performed, and that if any further information was needed to establish support for the amendment in the specification, the Examiner would contact me.

No agreement regarding patentability was reached.

We wish to thank the Examiner for the time and consideration, and we stand by to consider any changes proposed by the Examiner or to provide any further information needed by the Examiner.

Respectfully,

/ Robert Frantz /
